

RUSSANS BEGIN THE SIEGE OF CRACOW; POLAND FIGHT WAGES

RUSSIAN ARMIES REPORTED TO BE BOMBARDING IM-PORTANT AUSTRIAN STRONGHOLD.

REPORTS CONFLICTING

Both Berlin and Petrograd claim to have won advantage in Titanic struggle in the East.

Germany acknowledges that the Russian northern army has penetrated into east Prussia to a distance of fifteen miles southwest of Gumbin-gen, which is about twenty miles west of the German border. In Belgium, says the French official statement, it is the allies and not the Germans who are turning the offensive. These two points stood out in today's news dispatches from the battlefields of Europe.

The German official statement says that strong Russian forces attempted a surprise attack on the fortifications of Danzig in east Prussia, and that they were repulsed. Semi-official information from Petrograd is that operations along the Prussian front are turning to the advantage of the Russians and that the Germans are retiring in disorder.

Meanwhile the great battle in Russian Poland between the Vistula and the rivers continues without definite results. The German war office states that the Russians were defeated in a battle south of the Vistula and that 4,500 men were captured. Further south in Galicia the Russians are said to have reached Cracow and to have begun the siege of that city.

The whereabouts of the German Pacific fleet, of which little has been heard since it sank the British cruiser, Good Hope, and the mouth of the coast of Chile nearly a month ago, has become one of the mysteries of the war. Dispatches from Montevideo again report that this fleet is now in the South Atlantic, and that it was said last week to have remained off the Chilean coast. British and Japanese naval squadrons have been scouring the seas for weeks for the German fleet.

Petrograd, Nov. 30.—"Fighting on the Russo-Prussian front is turning decisively for our side," telegraphs a correspondent of the Army Messenger.

"Our cavalry has dispersed the enemy who in retreating is abandoning its positions of war. The energetic pursuit of our forces has driven the Germans from taking up the positions which they had prepared for their use in the event of a retreat."

"All of our operations in Galicia are ending successfully for us. We continue to push the Austrian army in the direction of Cracow, in spite of the cold which is delaying our offensive, we are advancing vigorously."
"Several of our contingents already are abreast of Cracow, the defenders of which are being turned on the south side. The morale of our troops is excellent."

"On the basis of reports received in Petrograd from Hungary, it is stated here today that the Austro-Hungarian armies to the amount to 900,000 men and 19,000 officers."

Cracow Bombarded.
Milan, via London, Nov. 30.—The siege of Cracow has begun according to a correspondent of the newspaper Corriere della Sera, who writes that the Russians are bombarding the fort with their heavy siege guns, and that one of the suburbs of the city is reported to be in flames.

Claim Russians Lose.
Berlin, Nov. 30.—The following official statement was given today at military headquarters:

"There is nothing of note to report on the western theatre of war." On the east Prussian frontier, an attempt by strong Russian forces to surprise attack on German fortifications was repulsed, the Russians with heavy losses to the Germans from whom we captured a few officers and six hundred men.

"South of the Vistula river, the German attacks which were reported yesterday lead to satisfactory results.
Eighteen cannon and more than 4,500 prisoners fell into our hands."

"Nothing of note has occurred in southern Poland."

Campaign in Flanders.
Paris, Nov. 30.—The French official communication given out in Paris this afternoon follows:

"In Belgium the enemy is remaining on the defensive. The German fire has been feeble and we have made progress at certain points. In the vicinity of Ypres we hold securely the positions we occupied Nov. 28."

"In the Artois there has been an intermittent artillery fire directed against the town."

"There has been a heavy fog on the heights of the Meuse."

"In the Voivre district the enemy bombed the forest of Apremont, but without result."

"There is nothing to report in the Vosges."

Situation in Poland.
London, Nov. 30.—References to the Russian successes in north Poland have been somewhat chastened since the cautious report issued by Grand Duke Nicholas, commander of the Russian forces in the field, was made public. Nevertheless the military authorities in the capitals of the allies, according to dispatches reaching London, remain convinced that the German invasion of Russian Poland has suffered a check which only the most stubborn efforts of the German commander can save from degenerating into disasters.

A news dispatch from Petrograd sets forth that the Germans, apparently ignorant of the extent of the Russian opposition along the Vistula, are holding this opposition in con-

FORMER JANESVILLE WOMAN GAINS THE FORTUNE OF AN UNCLE

From Washtub to Opulence is the Title of the Story.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Nov. 30.—"From the Washtub to the Easy Chair, or From Squalor to Riches," would be a good title for the story of the life of Mrs.
Elizabeth Beck, the latest chapter of which has been written, about a woman who tried to cheat Mrs. Beck out of $40,000.

Mrs. Beck lives in the rear of 715 State street. In a few days she will move on a farm.

In 1848, when a discovery of gold in California was called a rush in that part of the country, fevered John W. Roberts of Spring Valley, Rock county, his father and mother were born in England, but Mr. Roberts was born in Rock county, and he had gone to the gold fields and amassed a fortune. Later he bought a farm near Tacoma, Washington, and settled on it. The farm was increased in value, and when he died, he left himself from $80,000 to $100,000, besides a few pieces of land amounting to all $40,000. Mr. Roberts was Mrs. Beck's uncle.

For fifteen years Mrs. Beck lived on a farm in Wood county. Later she moved to Janesville, where she took up her abode to support her family. For eight years she lived in Janesville.
About four years ago she moved to Milwaukee, where she lived on Eighth street. She was then 60 years old. She rented room and there came one day a clairvoyant, Mrs. Beck told her of her uncle's wealth, and later the clairvoyant claimed herself to be the daughter and sole heir of Mrs. Beck's uncle, and she tried to cheat Mrs. Beck out of her fortune.

A trial followed which was won by Mrs. Beck, who received $40,000.

CHARGES ARE MADE AGAINST ALDERMAN

E. E. Gunn, Alderman of Green Bay, Pleads Not Guilty to Keeping a Disorderly House.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Green Bay, Nov. 30.—A warrant charging Edward E. Gunn, senior, president of the city council, for being the keeper of a disorderly house, was signed by City Attorney Cook this morning.

Policemen took the alderman and a girl named Edna Daley from a room of the city Sunday night, and the attorney appeared in the police court for both parties this morning and entered pleas of not guilty.

The case was adjourned until Thursday.
City officials are outspoken as the result of the arrest of the alderman, in asserting that the policemen are not getting on with him for refusing to grant them a raise in pay this year.

Gunn is chairman of the finance committee and representative of the fashionable ward of this city.

LOWERS ASSESSMENT AGAINST RAILROADS

Judge Grimm's Ruling on Remembrances in Bass Creek Drainage Case Upsets a Precedent.

With the decision of Judge Grimm on the remembrances of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and Chicago and Northwestern railroad companies, to the assessment against them by the Bass Creek drainage commissioners, the legal entanglements that have surrounded the construction of the big drainage ditch west of this city have been cleared up and disposed of.

In his ruling on these remembrances Judge Grimm has upset a precedent. He has decided that the assessment for construction against corporations should be the same as against individual land-owners.

Heretofore it has been the rule in this state for drainage commissioners to assess corporations 100 per cent of the benefits for construction purposes, while the farmer or other individual land-owner would pay but a small percentage.

In the matter of the Bass Creek Drainage district, the commissioners assessed benefits amounting to $1,500 against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company, and assessed it $1,600 or 100 per cent of construction. They assessed benefits against the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company amounting to $1,000, and the same sum for construction.

The individual landowners assessed the drainage ditch were each assessed 25 per cent of the benefits for construction purposes.

Now, Judge Grimm, acting as attorney for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company, filed a remembrance against this method of assessment, claiming among other things that everyone assessed should be assessed on the same basis.

The Chicago and Northwestern Railway company filed no remembrance on the start, and judgment was entered against it for $1,000.00. Later the judgment was opened, and a remembrance was filed by Edward M. Smart, the attorney for the company.

A jury was waived, and a hearing had before Judge Grimm, considerable testimony being offered by the Drainage Commissioners and the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company. The Drainage Commissioners appeared by Whitehead & Matheson.

Whitehead & Matheson, the attorneys for the Drainage Commissioners claiming therein that the plain wording of the Statutes authorized their action in making the assessment, and that they could be made no other way except to open the assessment 100 per cent of the benefits for construction purposes. The attorney for the railway company contended that such a method of assessment was not authorized by law, and that it would be unconstitutional.

Judge Grimm fixed the amount of benefits to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company by reason of the drainage ditch at $800.00, and the amount of its assessment for construction, $200.00. He found that the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company would be benefited to the amount of $1,000.00, and that it should pay for construction $250.00. It is understood that the Drainage Commissioners will accept his definition of the law, and not appeal.

BRITISH BATTLESHIPS PATROL THE ATLANTIC

MERCHANTS SHIP WIRELESS OP-ERATORS DECLARE BRIT-ISH VIOLATE RULES.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Nov. 30.—At least twelve British battleships are patrolling the Atlantic Ocean, and the Atlantic cable, sweeping the seas with their wireless, crowding ordinary commercial radios from the air, and keeping close watch on all forms of shipping, according to wireless operators on the steamship Ancon, which arrived today from Christobal.

"These British battleships," the operator said, "pay no attention to the rules governing wireless operations.
With their high power apparatus they cut into the middle of the message and absolutely disregard all requests to keep out. We have no means of identifying the ships, as they use code, exclusively, that appears to be a code of numbers."

We counted 12 different warships that jammed our wireless on the way up."

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Nov. 30.— Dispatches received here from Montevideo insist that there is good reason to believe that the German fleet has been operating in the Pacific Ocean, is at present in the South Atlantic. Neither the French nor British legation here has any information to confirm these reports. Nevertheless, private dispatches give them credence. It is related among other things that several German steamers are preparing to leave Montevideo to provision the German warships.

The report that the German Pacific squadron has succeeded in making its way into the Atlantic, has been current for two days. Under date of Nov. 28, Montevideo reported that the German squadron had been sighted six hundred miles off Punta Pitar, Brazil, heading north.

Battle Is Expected.
Montevideo, Paraguay, Nov. 30.— The recent reports that the German fleet has been sighted in the Atlantic appear to have been confirmed here today. It is also rumored that a powerful British fleet is near by.

An interruption of British shipping and the cutting of German mer-chantships with supplies, were accused here as confirmatory of reports of the approach of the German fleet, which was expected to be off the mouth of the river Plata.

The German steamer Patagonia is being loaded here with provisions, the Sierra Cordoba, with coal, and the Mercedes with water. Sailings of British steamers from Montevideo and the Brazilian port of Santos have been suspended.

Ship Active.
Santos, Brazil, Nov. 30.—Three Japanese and two British warships and two Japanese colliers were sighted off Magdalena Bay, lower California, last Monday by the American freighter Ancon, which was on a voyage to Santos.

The British light cruiser Newcastle, a sister ship of the Glasgow, and the Japanese cruiser Idzumi both of which have long been patrolling the Pacific coast, were reported to have been sighted off the coast of California.

Another Japanese cruiser and a Japanese battleship were unfamiliar to the battleship Hizen and the cruiser Wille, which were also sighted.

boat Geier interned there.

Unpaid Notes May

Man Falls Down Stairs; Would Be Suicide Held

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Elmer Gleason fell down the two flights of stairs that are between the Badger drug store and the Luby shoe store shortly after three o'clock Saturday afternoon. When Gleason finally hit the bottom, he examined his body and was much surprised to find that he had not been hurt.

Julius Bergman was arrested by Policemen William Gower this afternoon on Western avenue. It was reported that the police had been threatened to commit suicide by jumping into the river near the Monterey bridge.

AGED WOMAN APOLOGIZES FOR PULLING FIRE ALARM

Saturday afternoon an aged lady who lives on River street, appeared at the west side fire station and apologized for causing the fire alarm Friday noon, pulled from box number 64 at the corner of River and Galena streets. The woman explained she had pulled the alarm for a mail box and an attendant on the fire engine later pulled the hook. The key had been extracted from the small glass box and malicious youths had previously unlocked the alarm box.

sisting principally of real estate and stock in trade.

LIMITS QUARANTINE AREA IN THE STATE

Gov. McGovern Issues Proclamation Raising Restrictions on Majority of Counties.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Nov. 30.—Gov. Francis E. McGovern today has issued a proclamation placing the counties of Adams, Racine, Waukesha, Rock, Milwaukee, Green, Dane, Walworth, Jefferson, Lincoln and Langlade under quarantine for foot-and-mouth disease among the city and remainder of the state.

"During the existence of this quarantine the transportation, movement, trading or driving of cattle, sheep and swine from any one of the counties hereinbefore quarantined is prohibited," says the executive proclamation.

"When shipments by rail of cattle, sheep or other ruminants and swine are made from and to points not included in the area hereinbefore quarantined for foot-and-mouth disease, the cars containing the same shall be sealed and remain sealed from the time of entering the quarantine area until they reach their destination, or are unloaded for feed water and rest, and before provided, and when shipments of live stock are unloaded enroute within the said area in cleaned and disinfected pens for the purpose of feed, water and rest, the same shall be broken, and the cars after re-loading, shall again be sealed under the supervision of an employee of the Bureau of Animal Industry or legally deputized veterinarian, in the employ of the state veterinarian."

"It is further provided that the sale and exchange of cattle, sheep and swine within the quarantined area is hereby prohibited, except for immediate slaughter and no cattle, sheep or other ruminants, or swine, shall be driven along any public highway within the quarantined area, and that all such animals when moved for slaughter, shall be transported in closed and disinfected vehicles, and must be hauled in wagons or transported in cars."

The proclamation says that the release of the rest of the state from the quarantine is approved by the federal department at Washington on condition of maintaining the strict quarantine in the eleven counties named in the proclamation.

EMERGENCY WAR TAX
NOW IN FULL EFFECT

All Provisions of Measure to Raise on December 1st.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Nov. 30.—The emergency war tax bill to raise $100,000, 000 in revenue went into full effect today. The provisions of the measure, which were passed by Congress and went into effect on November 1 and the remaining sections became effective today. The latter include provisions on bankers, pawn brokers, motion picture houses, owners of circuses and other shows, perfumes, cosmetics, chewing gum and similar articles, and the sale papers of all description, steamship tickets, parlor car seats, and sleeping car berths, and telephone and telegram messages, where the charge exceeds five cents.

which the dockyard workers have participated has delayed the departure of the Antarctic explorer which is to carry a section of Sir Ernest Shackleton's Antarctic expedition

FATHER MEETS SONS THROUGH POLICE AID

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Nov. 30.—That the stock fire insurance companies must pay the one-half per cent federal internal revenue tax taking effect December 1st, is the ruling of Commissioner of Insurance Herman L. Eklund, issued today. This requires the 135 stock companies doing business in this state to pay $45,000 in taxes which they attempted to impose on the policyholders of Wisconsin.

The proposed ruling was sent out by Commissioner Eklund terminus, who has received letters of approval from leading insurance departments of many states, and from several lawyers and property-owners throughout Wisconsin and the United States.

Perhaps the most important part is a memorandum to the ruling in which Commissioner Eklund refers to the suggestion that stock fire insurance companies are losing money, and shows that the average stockholders' net gains in these companies for the ten years ending the year of the big San Francisco conflagration was 6.8 per cent on all capital stock and surplus, and during the last five years was 10.6 per cent. Average annual dividends for all the companies reach as high as 33.3 per cent, and the cost to the policyholders for the use of the stockholders' capital and surplus, he shows that for the past five years has cost 11 per cent of the net premium paid by the policyholders, or 21.5 per cent of the amounts paid for losses. He further shows that in Wisconsin the proportion of premiums to losses averages 14 per cent to 36 per cent, except of the premiums throughout the United States.

Federal Board Begins Consideration of Western Engineers' Wage Dispute.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Nov. 30.—Arbitration of the differences over wages and hours of employment of Western engineers began here today before a board of arbitrators appointed under the provisions of the Newlands act, it is regarded as the most important case thus far to come under the law.

In a general way it is stated that are about to be decided. The men of the engineering profession are beginning to feel the effects of the new law, and they are beginning to feel the effects of the new law.

It was thought that most of today's session would be occupied in adopting the rules of procedure, arranging for the names of witnesses to appear before the respective parties of the arbitration and other routine matters. Ninety days are allowed to present evidence, and an award is expected ten days later. The arbitrators are L. Park and H. E. Byram, representing the railroad, F. A. Burges and Timothy Shea for the employees, and Judge Peter C. Fitzgerald and Chas.
Nagel, appointed by the government.

RATE CASE HEARING SCHEDULED TUESDAY

Railroad Commission Will Investigate Basis for Increased Charge On Fuel Wood and Hay.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Wis., Nov. 30.—Two important railroad rate cases, involving all the rates on fuel wood and hay in the state, will be heard in the Milwaukee city hall tomorrow by the Railroad Commission. The applications have been made general, involving the rates on all commodities shipped by the carriers. The carriers made application for an increase in the rates and simultaneously the wood shippers of the state made application for a reduction of rates. Upwards of 30 car loads of wood are shipped by the wood dealers annually, one of the larger railroads of the state carrying about 12,000 car loads.

The railroads have made an application for an increase in the hay rates to all stations in the state and the hay dealers have asked that the rates be maintained. Upwards of 60,000 carloads of hay are shipped in Wisconsin annually. Probably witnesses will appear at these two hearings, which may last for three days.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Decisions of pressing importance were expected today when the Supreme Court re-convened after two weeks recess.

Of the scores of cases on the docket, final decision will be handed down by the court, argument having long ago been completed, perhaps the most important of these is the Midway Oil case. This involves the validity of the withdrawal from entry by President Taft of three million acres of California and Wyoming oil lands from public exploration. The Midwest Oil Company sought a writ of drawal by Taft because there was no statute which expressly gave the right to make such a withdrawal.

Since that time in 1910, congress passed such a law, and about 4,000 acres of oil land, all known to exist in the public domain, have been withdrawn from public entry. The decision in this case will have a great effect adverse to the government.

The Maryland "Grandfather clause" case is another that may be handed down by the Supreme Court today or in the near future. It is designed to prevent negroes from voting in state and city elections. The Oklahoma Grandfather clause may also be passed upon today.

Another case, which is waited eagerly by railroad men, is that of Wadley Southern Railway Company against the state of Georgia. This involves the right of a state railroad company to fine a railroad for disobeying its orders. The case is the case of the Sioux Remedy Co. against R. M. Cope and D. C. Cope will determine whether a state may debar corporations which have not incorporated in that state from instituting law suits.

Grain rate discriminations in favor of Nashville by the L. & N. Railroad were involved in the case of the government against that and other roads.

Whether, when a telephone subscriber disputes a bill, the company has the right to refuse service until the bill is paid is the question up to the Supreme Court in another case which may be decided today.

The authority of Congressional investigative committees to force evidence from unwilling witnesses will be decided in the case of George G. Henry, a partner of William Salomon and Co., Wall street brokers, and a partner of Marshall Henkel.

After handing down its decisions today, the Supreme Court will give its attention to all important cases on which the court is willing to hear all arguments. These cases have been set for today with the distinct understanding that not more than half an hour or argument is to be heard on each side.

One of the most important of these cases is that involving the constitutionality of the "cool storage" law of Ohio, the suit of the Rail and River Coal Co. against the members of the Ohio Industrial Commission, to prevent their enforcement of the law.
This involves the protest of the mine operators against the law prohibiting the use of screens to selection the amount sent out of the mines in mine cars, on which the pay of the miners was based. The law also gives the industrial commission the right to determine the percentage of slag, sulphur rock, or other impurity which might be contained in a car.

An interesting question in employers liability is that of the Norfolk and Western Railroad Co. against

BE HELD JAN. 12-16

Local Body Arranges for Annual Exhibit of Birds.—Expect Successful Gathering.

The Southern Wisconsin Poultry Association will hold its 1915 show January 12 to 16 at the Auditorium, on River street.

Such was the decision reached at the meeting of the association in this city on Saturday evening. Harry Skelton was named as assistant superintendent.

Expectations and plans are to have the premium lists ready for distribution within the next two weeks. Cooperation with the poultry association in the advertising end is the Janesville Commercial Club.

Various committees named on Saturday evening to have direct supervision of the divers features are:
Special Premium Committee—W. H.
Ashcraft, William Buchanan, Harry Sheldon.

Committee for Award of Special Premiums—Edward Amerpohl, Edward Wilcox, Ira Holstiepp.
President Will McVicar, speaking this morning regarding the show, said that many inquiries had been received to date for information on the annual gathering of prize birds in this city. This he thought was indicative to the fact that the show would be fully as successful if no more so than those of seasons past.

Approximately 1,000 birds were entered last year. It is felt that there will be at least two or three hundred more fowls on exhibit Jan. 12 to 16.

PREPARE, FOR ADVENT SEASON IS UPON US

REV. E. O. HOFFMEISTER OF ST.
PETER'S ENGLISH LUTHER.
AN CHURCH ADVISED YESTERDAY.

"THE WORD" MADE MAN

Emphatic Declaration in "The Word" Became Christ, Whose Feast of Reincarnation is Near.

Rev. E. O. Hoffmeister, M. A., minister at St. Peter's English Lutheran church, spoke yesterday on the opening of the season of Advent, the beginning of the ecclesiastical year.
The speaker's treatment of the subject at hand was excellent. His sermon follows:
"Today the church enters upon that portion of the church-year known as the Festival of Advent. It is that period in which we think of the great fact of the incarnation, or the infinite gift to our lost world of a Saviour, and of preparation to meet and greet our coming Lord, when on the approaching Christmas Day, as the Babe of Bethlehem, He shall take on Himself our humanity and dwell as our Redeemer among us.
"The words of our text, 'And the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth,' (John 1-14), dwell upon the great mystery of the person of the Saviour.
This Word became flesh; not dwell in flesh, lived in a body of flesh, as something only inhabiting it, yet not in union with it; but this Divine Being termed 'the Word,' actually was made to become flesh. And then this Word having become incarnate, taber-naced visibly here among men, and manifested to them the power and the glory of His superhuman Being, His God-head in human form; the glory as of the only-begotten of the Father full of grace and truth."

"When John uses the term 'the word,' there must be some special distinction. It must have some peculiar sig-nification. What is it? This is it.
He meant to declare what the Scriptures elsewhere repeatedly express that Christ came into the world as the Revealer to man of the character of God's love toward man. His desire to save him, and His ability through Christ to save him. It is by our words that we make known to others what we think and feel and desire. A word is that by which we make known our will, our thoughts and our commands. It is the medium of communication with others. And thus Christ is 'the Word.' By Him God has made Himself known to man, only in and through Christ do we know God."

"The emphatic declaration is that this Word, this Christ, this God, became man. He came into the world, and came into the world in the form and nature of man. It affirms not only that He was flesh but that He became such; implying that He had pre-existence; that He was not created, but came; that He entered our world from another; that He laid aside one form or manner of existence in order to assume existence in our human form. The Word became flesh."

"Then this expression means that the Word of God took to Himself and into vital union with His divine nature so as to constitute one Person, even the God-man, our human nature, both body and soul—our complete humanity. This union of the Divine and human in Christ's one person is a deep mystery. The exact character of it, the precise relation of these two natures we cannot understand. It is explain; just as we cannot fully understand or explain the union which exists between our own souls and bodies, or the relation they sustain to each other, or the exact influence which they exert upon each other.

But the fact of such a union, that in the Person of Christ the Divine and human natures are united we most heartily believe.

"The Divine Word, having thus in-separably united Himself to our human nature dwelt visibly among men.
He put Himself into the place and condition of man, and entered into all the experiences of man. He dwelt among us whom He had come to save, among us sinners who rejected His offers of mercy, who persecuted and hated him, and at last even put Him to death. Like ourselves, He hungered, thirsted, ate, drank, wept, rejoiced, and at other times to imagination, and at other times to passion. He prayed, read the Scriptures, was tempted, submitted His will to the will of God, His Father.
Dwelling here on earth as we dwell on it; in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. He could say, "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests, but the Son of man hath no where to lay his head, in poverty, in obscurity, in lowliness, in want, in persecution, in the great-

DELEGATES RETURN FROM CONFERENCE

Fond du Lac Meeting Was a Great Inspiration to Local and County Y.
M. C. A. Boys That Attended.

Instilled with new and better ideas on how to better promote the more successful phases of Y. M. C. A. life and work, the Rock county delegation, numbering 12, returned from attending the 12th annual Wisconsin Older Boys' conference, held at Fond du Lac, Friday, Saturday and yesterday, returned last evening at eight-thirty, in the same special car that conveyed them to the northern city Friday noon.

The ten delegates from this city report that they never saw a conference like the Fondy one before. Exactly 572 delegates, which number does not include speakers, were present at the sessions. "It was a vast crowd," said Associate Secretary R. C. MacKenzie of the local institution today, "and I believe the boys are all the time receiving better ideas of what the Y. M. C. A. is, and what it really stands for."
Mr. MacKenzie intends to make the Janesville Y. M. C. A. one of the most popular centers for boys, if not the most popular, within the next year, by carrying out ideas to entertain the members, and to interest them in every way possible.

Similar conferences which have been held in other states of the union show the splendid united interest that is being rapidly taken in association work. In Michigan 2,600 delegates swarmed into the vast meeting hall at their last conference. Illinois and Texas, comparatively new states to promote this conference idea, had 400 and 100 respectively at their conventions this fall. Wisconsin, in its 12th annual event, accommodated 572, or over 600 with speakers during the three days last week. United Y. M. C. A. work is fast becoming an organized policy and the results of united efforts are already being brought to light.

The local delegates were one of the best behaved bunch of representatives at the conference, stated Mr.
MacKenzie this morning. They will hold a meeting this week with Mr.
MacKenzie and outline some definite course to pursue in the association

TWO LARGE AUDIENCES HEAR BARRETT SUNDAY.

Despite the inclemency of the weather, the Methodist church was filled twice yesterday to hear Evangelist Charles F. Barrett, of Delaware, Ohio. The largest meeting for men only for many years heard him speak on "Forbidden Fruit," in the afternoon, and a great day and the church are delighted with the progress of the meetings. Mr. Barrett is revealing true leadership, and Miss Barrett is winning all by her sweet solos.
Mr. Barrett will speak on "I'm From tonight and will speak at the banquet night. Men's Brotherhood on Tuesday

Why Our Jewelry Store Delights Christ- mas Shoppers.

Because gifts from a jewelry store for the last thousand years, and as far back as historical records go, have always been tokens of love and friendship, and an enduring remembrance of the giver.

Our Stock

We call your attention to the fact, that our store and stock this year are larger than ever, the stock having been selected by an expert buyer of long experience with the greatest care possible to assemble under our roof the cream of the best manufacturers.

Our Service

We employ good, experienced people, who are able to make good and intelligent suggestions and make your shopping a pleasure —also very courteous to all, whether or not you are ready to purchase. We invite you to visit our store and see our beautiful display

Our Guarantee

It is needless to say, every article of merchandise we sell is warranted to be exactly as represented. There's no chance for deception at this store. Look for the Red Seal on every package. This guarantees you that the giver has remembered you with a present of the best durable quality in its line that can be purchased.

Our Line

Is particularly interesting this year, besides the regular line of jewelry and silverware we have an exceptionally large and varied line of French Ivory in Toilet Sets and Novelties. Leather Goods that are durable and not high priced. Brass Goods that are Brass, Lamps in new designs and less expensive than ever.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

"TOUCHING your article on class distinction in this morning's paper, let me relate a little personal experience of recent date, writes a letter friend.

"Entering a department store I inquired of the floorwalker at which counter I might find underwear. He took me to a fellow employee and said, 'This man wants to buy such and such an article, to which the employee replied, 'That is not in my department, but come with me and I will take you to a gentleman who will attend to you.'

RUTH CAMERON

"Please note the fine distinction between man (the customer) and gentleman (the clerk). Moreover, this is not an isolated case. It constantly happens in one way or another. Of course the matter is of no earthly consequence. Calling a fellow employee a gentleman does not make him one unless he happens to be one by nature. Nor does the application of the supposedly less complimentary term man, to the customer in any way detract from his true status. But it would be interesting to hear on what grounds and for what reasons the distinction is made. Let us know how these fine drawn distinctions are to be adjusted."

My letter friend is apparently piqued at being referred to as a man instead of a gentleman. I must say I cannot share his point of view.

To my mind the simple word man is rather a fine title, and apparently there are others who feel the same way about it.

Shakespeare's epitaph of one of his characters is, 'He was a man, take him for all in all, I shall not look upon his like again.'

'A man's a man for a that' is Burns' paeon to simple manhood.

While Kipling promises that if you can acquire all the most splendid virtues and finally:

"If you can fill the unforgetting minute With sixty seconds' worth of distance run Yours is the world and everything that's in it And what is more, you'll be a man my son."

No, if I were of the masculine gender I don't believe I'd mind being called a man.

Any more than, being of the feminine gender, I object to being called a woman instead of a lady. In fact I prefer the former characterization.

Which sounds finer to you, 'manly' or 'gentlemanly,' 'ladylike' or 'womanly'.

It seems to me that womanly is one of the most beautiful words in the language. I don't care a rap about being considered ladylike but I should like to be thought womanly.

To my mind 'man' or 'woman' is the larger word. If a male is a man in the full sense of that word, he is sure to be a gentleman. Or if a female (how I hate that word, but there is no synonym) is a real woman, she is a lady too.

So don't worry, Letter Friend, because you are called a man. If you want to worry over anything, worry over deserving the title.

Household Hints

SYRUP ECONOMIES.

Now when it is time for pancakes and maple syrup is rather expensive, you will find the following a good substitute:

Let two cups sugar and one cup water come to a boil; when cool, add two teaspoons maple flavor. The maple flavor is brought in bottles same as any other extract.

When making apple pies, put all parings and cores on to boil; when soft drain off the juice into kettle and squeeze the parings through a fine sieve; put juice and pulp from straining back to boil, add sugar enough to make syrup for pancakes. Some like it better than store syrup.

THE TABLE.

Squirrel Pie—Lay thin slices in bottom of pan, season with salt and pepper, a little parsley, teaspoon mixed herbs powdered, and one cup white sauce. Cut squirrels in pieces, season and arrange on bacon of four hard-boiled eggs sliced and one cup white sauce. Cover all of it with pastry, make incisions in pastry, and brush top with beaten egg. Bake one hour, then pour one cup sauce in holes on top and serve hot.

Chicken and Dumplings—Stew chicken till tender with salt and a few celery leaves. For dumplings: Two measuring cups sifted flour, one level teaspoon salt, large size of small flour, and one-half cup water. Mix and add cold water to make stiff dough; cut in two-inch squares, put on top of chicken and boil fifteen minutes covered. Take out, thicken gravy and serve at once. Use a large kettle.

Wild Duck With Turnips—Slice one large onion, one carrot, melt four spoons butter or drippings in pan, put in vegetables and your duck, which has been cut in pieces; fry till brown. Strain off fat and add one cup water or stock and one bay leaf; put pan in oven and bake one hour. Peel eight turnips, cut four of them in quarters and fry in butter till brown. Boil the other four in salted water, then mash them, season and put in pan with butter and four spoons of cream. Take duck and arrange it on turnips. Make a gravy of the stock from the duck, pour over all.

Hungarian Carrots—One quart carrots cut into thin strips and measured after cutting; half cup vinegar; three-fourths cup sugar; one tablespoon butter; one teaspoon salt, enough water to cover. Scrape carrots to remove peel. Cut them into two-inch lengths, then into thin slices lengthwise, then into strips. Measure and place in sauce pan; add salt, cover with hot water and boil until tender. Drain off water, add butter, vinegar and sugar and return to fire. Cook slowly until carrot strips are transparent; then remove from fire and serve as side dish with roast veal or as a salad. They are excellent.

Pudding With Vanilla Sauce—Moisten two and one-half cups bread crumbs with three-fourths cup milk, one cup brown sugar, one teaspoon salt, four tablespoons butter, four eggs. Then add one cup raisins cut. Add three-fourths spoon cinnamon and two teaspoons baking powder. Add one cup walnut meats last.

Place in battered baking dish and bake until dry and brown. Sauce: Melt two tablespoons butter, add flour (two tablespoons), stirring till well mixed, then add one-half cup brown sugar and one cup water; cook until clear, add one teaspoon vanilla; when done put on pudding.

English Pumpkin Pie—Two pints thoroughly cooked pumpkin, half cup flour, one tablespoon corn starch, level teaspoon baking powder, one and one-half cups sugar, cinnamon and allspice, half teaspoon level; cloves and ginger, one-fourth teaspoon level; three and one-half pints milk. This makes four pies.

Eggless Fruit Cake—One cup sugar, half cup lard (part butter can be used), one cup chopped raisins, one cup sour milk, three cups sifted flour, one teaspoon each of cinnamon and cloves, one teaspoon soda dissolved in a little hot water; a little salt. Bake slowly. This also makes a nice pudding.

Good Chocolate Soft Frosting—One coffee cup powdered sugar, two tablespoons cocoa, one tablespoon melted butter, one teaspoon vanilla. Equal to boiled frosting.

THINKS BELGIANS WOULD MAKE GOOD AMERICAN CITIZENS

Mrs. Herbert C. Hoover.

Mrs. Herbert C. Hoover, wife of the noted consulting engineer and Stanford University trustee, and herself a leader in the relief work in London during the early days of the war, suggests that after the war California's vacant lands be colonized by Belgians. "If as an outcome of the war the Germans get Belgium, millions could be induced to come to America," she says.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How would be a proper way to show a bashful boy you care for him? Is it proper for a young lady to hold her escort's arm?

his bashfulness will disappear. It is customary for the escort to take the lady's arm.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I was engaged to marry a young man who does not live in the town I live in now. I grew tired of him after we had been engaged a year. I could not make up my mind about the matter, so I came away. He followed me there and wanted to know why I would not decide whether to marry him or not. He wrote many letters and as I did not answer them he quit writing. He is a prosperous farmer and as I lived on a farm I know all about farming. He had the house built and everything ready. My people hear from him a good deal and he is still greatly in love with me. Please advise me as to what to do.

My dear girl, you certainly are in a difficult position. You do well to hesitate, because it would be the greatest mistake you could possibly make to marry a man you did not love. But you are wronging a worthy lover by so definitely deciding something. Write to him and tell him you care too much for his happiness to marry him while you are in this troubled, unsettled state. Ask him to give you six months away from him in which to think the thing over, so be more sure of making no mistake. He will see that it is no trifling doubt, but an honest one as to what you should do and he will respect your wish.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: At a dinner the other evening a witty lady said: 'A person should never pick his teeth or chew gum except under the bed.' Of course she was joking in part. Just what did she mean?

She meant that no well-bred person will ever be seen picking his teeth or chewing gum in public. I have seen a gentleman hold his napkin in front of his face and use a toothpick to remove something from his teeth that was causing pain. Toothpicks should be used in the private room, the same as toothbrushes and nail files, and gum should be chewed only in the sanctity of the home. Nothing betrays his breeding sooner than chewing gum in public.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a boy friend who has been very attentive to me and sometimes I call him up and make a date with him. It is wrong to do it?

Dear girl, I can conceive of circumstances when it would be all right to call a boy in by phone, but the rule would remain the same in spite of the rare exceptions. Never call a boy up over the phone and let girls who give the boys the impression that they are very anxious for their company soon weary them. A proper reserve holds the boy as your friend.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA EDWARDS

John Edwards had lived for forty years in the Rocky mountain country. He was a light, spare man with clean brown hands and face. He wore a long, thin mustache, and as he became an orthodox cowboy, he was in variable mood, wearing a sombrero, originally a light cream color. This headgear was so dear to him that he wore it continuously, at meals and during the day.

There were numerous progeny of the Edwards stock, but they were of no consequence. Mr. Edwards alone was of importance.

The only living thing that seemed to regard Mrs. Edwards with affection was a beautiful black colt. He came every morning to the corral gate for his carrot or turnip and affectionately nosed the hard hand that fed him. This colt had belonged to a son who had died a year or so before, a son utterly unlike the wild, rough brood that shrieked over the hills and filled the house with uproar.

A wonderful bond had existed between the silent woman and this delicate boy. He never went to town without bringing her some trifle. But the boy was too frail to thrive in the hard conditions into which he was born and in his nineteenth year he had slipped away from her clinging hands.

"Mother, the colt's yours," he had said a few days before his death. "Do it," she pleaded with trembling lips. "You'll get well and ride him yet," but it was not to be. Deader than anything else to the mother was the shiny black creature that had belonged to this boy.

"Ma, do you know pa had sold one day."

"Sold him!" she echoed. "How can he? Jim gave him to me," and she flung the table with her thin fingers.

"He sold him to Jake Peters for a saddle horse," continued the child. "He's to get $100 for him."

The woman sank into a chair and buried her face in her hands.

"Pa, is it true what Sam says, that you've sold Black Prince?" she asked when her husband came in to dinner.

"Sure thing," he answered. "I got a good round hundred for him."

"Pa, Black Prince is mine—Jim gave him to me. He's the only thing I ever had. I won't give him up," and she threw her apron over her face and left the room.

Mr. Edwards snorted as he gazed after her from between drawn brows. He started for town immediately after dinner and the children scattered as usual.

She opened the gate and taking hold of his mane started up the steep path behind the house, the colt nosing her shoulder as they went. In about an hour she returned alone. Her eyes were red.

That evening when Jake Peters came for the colt, Black Prince was not to be found.

"Ma, do you know anything about this?" angrily asked her husband. She passed him and went up to Mr. Peters in the door.

"That colt is mine. Jim gave him to me before he died. I never have to do before he died. I never have anything of my own, never a cent of money, never a bit of pleasure. You can't have the colt. I've hid him. I'll kill him before you shall take him away," and she left the room.

"I did not know that," said Mr. Peters to the dazed husband who stood staring at the door that had shut behind his wife. "We'll call this deal off."

Potted Plants For the Living Room

potted plants for the living room. Many lovers of flowers who do not have the time to bother with an indoor window-box, enjoy keeping a number of potted plants in the living room during the winter. Some have, in fact, turned a bay window into a small conservatory or winter garden merely by an attractive arrangement of plants in separate pots.

When a window-box is filled with plants of the same general character to be successful, but if one's winter garden is made up of plants in separate pots, a greater variety may be kept, as each plant may receive different treatment in the matter of light, watering, soil, etc., and palms, rubber plants and cacti, which call for special handling, may be added. Begonias, ivy, Smilax and aspidistra, all good plants for indoor culture, demand more or less the same treatment as was explained in a previous article sent by the United States department of agriculture, describing the indoor window-box.

Those who do not have gardens would do better to get potted plants of the nearest florist for their potted plants. Good potted soil may be prepared at home, but it usually takes considerable care and forethought.

Those willing to take the trouble may prepare it by using one part of compost, one part good loam and one part sand. The compost should be cow manure and good rotted together for a year and turned two or three times in the interim. Well decomposed leaf mould would answer as a partial substitute for the compost.

One-inch, part bone meal is a good addition to the mixture. The loam is very heavy, containing much clay, its proportion should be somewhat diminished. If the loam is light sandy, reduce the amount of sand, or in some localities omit it altogether.

Potted plants should be examined occasionally to see whether or not the plant requires repotting. This is done by holding the hands over the top of the pot, inverting plant and all, tapping the edge of the pot so as to loosen it, then lifting the pot as a whole.

This cannot be done unless the soil is moderately moist. If the ball of earth is completely covered with roots, the plant should be put in a slightly larger pot with new potting soil "firmed" about the old ball of earth by "firming" with the fingers. Then wet thoroughly.

Housewife who desires a few potted plants, but does not possess the regulation flower pots, may prepare tin cans that will be quiet satisfactory. A small hole should be made in the bottom of the can and a piece of broken crockery or a few stones put in the bottom of the can before earth is added, in order to give the proper drainage. The stones or crockery should be also used in the regular flower pot.

Hanging baskets may be used advantageously to make an indoor winter garden attractive. They should be hung near a light window.

Geraniums: If geraniums are potted so that the root growth is restricted, if they are kept fairly dry, they may be forced to flower during the winter. Geraniums are attractive in the ordinary window-box because of their fragrant leaves. They should not be placed in a window-box with the expectation that they will bear flowers.

Ferns: Ferns as they come from the florist prepared for indoor culture, should be placed in a strong light, they grow well without sunlight. They should be watered sparingly but should be kept moist at all times. Improper watering, especially keeping the plants so moist, permitting it to get dry, is the foundation of most fern difficulties. It is especially difficult not to overwater when the fern is in a jardiniere, where drainage is necessarily poor. In spring and summer they will require three times the water necessary in fall and winter.

It is well occasionally to put them in the bath tub and give them a bath with weak soap suds made from a good grade of soap. The soap must be thoroughly rinsed off immediately. Great care must be exercised not to injure the fronds as they are very tender. Mealy bug is one of the worst enemies in house culture. This is a white waxy insect that works close to the bottom of the fronds. If found, the plant should be examined every day and all insects removed by a spirit or toothpick. If the pest is very bad, cut off all the fronds within an inch of the ground, treat thoroughly each day till all insects are exterminated when a new top can be grown.

Red spider is a minute sucking insect that thrives in a dry atmosphere. It can be kept in check by spraying the top with clear water. In living rooms this is frequently impracticable. The next best thing is repeated baths. The aphid or green fly is also eradicated by washing.

Ferns should be ferned in two to four weeks in the place of ordinary watering with dilute nitrate of soda. (a heaping teaspoonful to a quart of water) ammonia water (a teaspoonful of ammonia to a quart) or mature leachings. Prepare the food or a little sprinkling of ground bone and wood ashes also gives satisfaction.

Sick-Room Light.
If there are electric lights in the sick room they will generally be found too brilliant, hurting the eyes of the patient, and not every sick room has the electric lights that can be turned up or down. Make a little green silk bag and fasten it over the incandescent bulb and it will give a good but subdued and harmless light.

COURAGE IN WAR.

What war teaches—as well as business life.

Courage in war or business is born of good pure blood. Pure blood is the greatest blessing mankind can have. Millions of people need the powerful vegetable remedy that puts the stomach, liver and bowels in fine condition; that clears the skin of pimples, rash, blemishes and eczema; that dissolves boils and carbuncles; that makes nerves stronger and steadier and gives to pale, weak, rundown people the fullest measure of health and happiness.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, free from alcohol or narcotics, does just what is stated above, simply because it banishes from the blood all poison and impure matter. It is the world's great Blood Purifier; it seeps joints, dissolves the impure deposits and carries them out, as it does all impurities, through the Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and Skin.

If you have indigestion, sluggish liver, backache over the kidneys, nasal or other Catarrh, unsteady nerves or unsightly skin, get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to-day and start at once to replace your impure blood with the kind that puts energy and ambition into you and brings back youth and vigorous action.

A GREAT BOOK EVERY WOMAN SHOULD HAVE.

If you will pay the mailing charges, Dr. Pierce will send you his cloth bound book of over 1,000 pages newly revised with color plates and illustrations. Everyone should read and have it in case of accident or sickness in the home.

Treats of so many subjects in such an interesting manner that knowledge of the human body is quickly and easily attained by all who read the book.

Send 20 cents in stamps for mailing charges to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and enclose this notice.

Resinol for unsightly skin eruptions

PIMPLES, blackheads, rashes, ringworm and, worst of all, that red, itching, scaly torment, eczema, vanish when you use Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. Even though your skin is so unsightly with eruption that you shun your friends and your friends shun you, Resinol is almost sure to make it clear and healthy, quickly, easily and at trifling cost. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap have been prescribed for nineteen years for just such skin troubles as yours.

Wherever drugs are sold you can get Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. For trial, write to Dept. K, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Avoid substitutes, they are NOT "just as good."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you will find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio.

"Mebby, Samson, ye've got a right ter take the studs this a-way, an' ter refuse ter answer our questions, but we've got a right ter say who kin stay in this hyar country. Ef ye 'lows ter quit us, I reckon we kin quit you—and, if we quits ye, ye hain't nothin' more ter us then no other boy thet's gettin' too big fer his breeches. This furrier is a visitor here today, an' we don't 'low ter hurt him—but he's got ter go. We don't want him round hyar no longer." He turned to Lescott. "We're a-givin' ye fair warnin', stranger. Ye hain't our bread. After this, ye stays on Misery at yore own risk—an' hit's a-goin' ter be plumb risky. That that's final."

"This man," blazed the boy, before Lescott could speak, "is a-visitin' me an' Unc' Spicer. When ye wants him ye kin come up thar an' git him. Every damned man of ye kin come. I hain't a-sayin' how many of ye'll go back. He's 'lowin' that he'd leave hyar ter-morrow mornin', but after this I'm a-tellin' ye he hain't a-goin' ter do hit. He's a-goin' ter stay as long as he likes, an' nobody hain't a-goin' ter run him off." Samson took his stand before the painter, and swept the group with his eyes. "An' what's more," he added, "I'll tell ye another thing. I badn't plumb made up my mind ter leave the mountings, but ye've done settled hit fer me. I'm a-goin'."

There was a low murmur of anger, and a voice cried out from the rear: "Let him go. We hain't got no use fer damn cowards."

"Whoever said that's a liar!" shouted the boy. Lescott, standing at his side, felt that the situation was more than parlor. But, before the storm could break, some one rushed in, and whispered to Wile McCager a message that caused him to raise both hands above his head, and thunder for attention.

"Men," he roared, "listen ter me! This here hain't no time fer squabblin' amongst ourselves. We're all Souths. Tamarack South has done gone ter Hixon, an' got inter trouble. He's locked up in the jailhouse."

"We're all hyar," screamed old Can-ah's high, broken voice. "Let's go an' take him out."

Samson's anger had died. He turned, and held a whispered conversation with McCager, and, at its end, the host of the day announced briefly: "Samson's got somethin' ter say ter

"This hain't no time for squabblin' amongst ourselves."

ye. So long as he's willin' ter stand by us, I reckon we're willin' ter listen ter Henry South's boy."

"I hain't got no use fer Tamarack Spicer," said the boy, succinctly, "but I don't 'low ter let him lay in no jailhouse, unless he's got a right ter be thar. What's he charged with?"

But no one knew that. A man supposedly close to the Hollmans, but in reality an informer for the Souths, had seen him led into the jailyard by a posse of a half-dozen men, and had seen the iron-barred doors close on him. That was all, except that the Hollman forces were gathering in Hixon, and, if the Souths went there en masse, a pitched battle must be the inevitable result. The first step was to gain accurate information and an answer to one vital question. Was Tamarack held as a feud victim, or was his arrest legitimate? How to learn that was the problem. To send a body of men was to invite bloodshed. To send a single inquirer was to deliver him over to the enemy.

"Air you men willin' ter take my word about Tamarack?" inquired Samson. There was a clamorous assent, and the boy turned to Lescott.

"I wants ye ter take Sally home with ye. Ye'd better start right away, afore she hears any of this talk. Hit would fret her. Tell her I've had ter go 'cross the country a piece, ter see a sick man. Don't tell her whar I'm a-goin'." He turned to the others. "I reckon I've got yore promise that Mr. Lescott hain't a-goin' ter be bothered afore I gits back."

Wile McCager promptly gave the assurance.

"I gives ye my hand on hit." "I seed Jim Asberry loffin' round jest beyond the ridge, as I rid over hyar," volunteered the man who had brought the message.

"Go slow now, Samson. Don't be no blame fool," dissuaded Wile McCager. "Hixon's plumb full of them Hollmans, an' they're likely ter be full of lickin' hit's Saturday. Hit's apt ter be shore death fer ye ter try ter ride through Main street—ef ye gits thet far. Ye dassent do hit."

"I dast do anything!" asserted the boy, with a flash of sudden anger. "Some liar 'lowed awhile ago thet I was a coward. All right, mebby I be. Unc' Wile, keep the boys hyar tell ye hears from me—an' keep 'em sober."

He turned and made his way to the fence where his mule stood hitched.

When Samson crossed the ridge and entered the Hollman country, Jim Asberry, watching from a hilltop point of vantage, rose and mounted the horse that stood hitched behind a nearby screen of rhododendron bushes and young cedars. Sometimes, he rode just one bend of the road in Samson's rear. Sometimes, he took short cuts, and watched his enemy pass. But always he held him under a vigilant eye. Finally, he reached a wayside store where a local telephone gave communication with Hollman's Mammoth Department store.

"Jedge," he informed, "Samson South's done left the party at ther mill, an' he's a-ridin' towards ther. Shall I git him?"

"Yes."

"Well, jest let him come on. We can tend ter him hyar, ef necessary." So Jim withheld his hand, and merely shadowed, sending bulletins, from time to time.

It was about three o'clock when Samson started. It was near six when he reached the ribbon of road that loops down into town over the mountain. His mule was in a lather of sweat. He knew that he was being spied upon, and that word of his coming was traveling ahead of him. What he did not know was whether or not it suited Jesse Purvy's purpose that he should slide from his mule, dead, before he turned homeward. If Tamarack had been seized as a declaration of war, the chief South would certainly not be allowed to return. If the arrest had not been for feud reasons, he might escape. That was the question which would be answered with his life or death.

The "jailhouse" was a small building of home-made brick, squatting at the rear of the courthouse yard. As Samson drew near, he saw that some ten or twelve men, armed with rifles, separated from groups and disposed themselves behind the tree trunks and the stone coping of the wall. Nons of them spoke, and Samson pretended that he had not seen them. He rode his mule at a walk, knowing that he was rifle-covered from a half-dozen windows. At the hitching rack directly beneath the county building, he swung his reins over a post, and, swinging his rifle at his side, passed cautiously along the brick walk to the jail. The men behind the trees edged around their covers as he went, keeping themselves protected, as squirrels creep around a trunk when a hunter is lurking below. Samson halted at the jail wall, and called the prisoner's name. A tousel head and surly face appeared at the barred window, and the boy went over and held convers with the outside.

"How in hell did ye git into town?" demanded the prisoner.

"I rid in," was the short reply. "How'd ye git in the jailhouse?"

The captive was shamefaced. "I got a little too much lickin' an' I was shootin' out the lights last night," he confessed.

"What business did ye have hyar in Hixon?"

"I jest slipped in ter see a gal." Samson leaned closer, and lowered his voice.

"Does they know that ye shot them shoots at Jesse Purvy?"

Tamarack turned pale.

"No," he stammered, "they believe you done hit."

Samson laughed. He was thinking of the rifles trained on him from a dozen invisible posts.

"How long air they a-goin' ter keep ye hyar?" he demanded.

"I kin git out tomorrow ef I pays the fine. Hit's ten dollars."

"And ef ye don't pay the fine?"

"Hit's a dollar a day."

"I reckon ye don't 'low ter pay hit, do ye?"

"I 'lowed mebby ye mout pay hit fer me, Samson."

"Ye done 'lowed plumb wrong. I come hyar ter see ef ye needed help, but hit 'pears ter me they're lettin' ye off easy."

He turned on his heel, and went back to his mule. The men behind the trees began circling again. Samson mounted, and, with his chin well up, trotted back along the main street. It was over. The question was answered. The Hollmans regarded the truce as still effective. The fact that they were permitting him to ride out alive was a wordless assurance of that. Incidentally, he stood vindicated in the eyes of his own people.

Lescott stayed on a week after that simply in deference to Samson's insistence. To leave at once might savor of flight under fire, but when the week was out the painter turned his horse's head toward town, and his train swept him back to the Bluegrasses and the East.

A quiet of unbroken and deadly routine settled down on Misery. The conduct of the Souths in keeping hands off, and acknowledging the justice of Tamarack Spicer's jail sentence, had been their answer to the declaration of the Hollmans in letting Samson ride into and out of Hixon. The truce was established. When, a short time later, Tamarack left the country to become a railroad brakeman, Jesse Purvy passed the word that his men must, until further orders, desist from violence. The word had crept about that Samson, too, was going away, and, if this were true, Jesse felt that his future would be more secure than his past. Purvy believed Samson guilty, despite the exonerations of the hounds.

Lescott had sent a box of books, and Samson had taken a team over to Hixon, and brought them back.

He devoured them all from title page to final line, and many of them he went back to, and digested again.

He wrestled long and gently with his uncle, struggling to win the old man's consent to his departure. But Spicer South's brain was no longer plastic. What had been good enough for the past was good enough for the future. Nevertheless, he arranged affairs so that his nephew should be able to meet financial needs, and to go where he chose in a fashion befitting a South.

November came in bleakly, with a raw and devastating breath of fatality. The smile died from horizon to horizon, and for days cold rains beat and lashed the forests. And, toward the end of the month, came the day which Samson had set for his departure.

At the threshold, with the saddlebags over his left forearm and the rifle in his hand, he paused. His uncle stood at his elbow and the boy put out his hand.

"Good-by, Unc' Spicer," was all he said. The old man, who had been his second father, shook hands. His face, too, was expressionless, but he felt that he was saying farewell to a soldier of genius who was abandoning the field. And he loved the boy with all the centered power of an isolated heart.

A half-mile along the road, Samson halted and dismounted. There, in a small cove, surrounded by a tangle of briars and blackberry bushes, stood a small and dilapidated "meeting house," and churchyard, which he must visit. He made his way through the rough undergrowth to the unkempt half-acre, and halted before the leaning headstones which marked two graves. With a sudden emotion, he swept the back of his hand across his eyes. He did not remove his hat, but he stood in the drizzle of cold rain for a moment of silence, and then he said:

Collect Your War Photographs

Kaiser Wilhelm

Personally Directing the German Troops

Magnificent Prints in Art Sepia

The pictures submitted by our immense staff of photographers are passed by the editors before permitted to appear in the "Photographic History of the Great War." No expense is spared in getting pictures—the photographers are commissioned to "take" every thing they see, but regardless of this enormous expenditure, the editorial department is instructed to use only such pictures as have an absolute historical value. It is the aim of the publishers to make this the one work which will be in a class by itself and will stand out as THE authoritative history of the greatest war the world has ever known. Begin today to collect these War Photographs, valued at $150,000.

You will appreciate this when you see Parts 1 and 2, which are ready for distribution at the Gazette office now. This history will not be ready in bound volumes until many months after the close of the war, but the Gazette has made arrangements to secure a limited number of copies in parts AS THE HISTORY IS WRITTEN, in order that its readers may have the unusual opportunity of collecting a complete set of the most striking war photographs taken, and of reading the interesting and authentic story of the war by the famous historian Francis Trevelyan Miller, LL.D., Litt.D., Editor-in-Chief of the "Photographic History of the Civil War."

The price at which the Gazette is distributing these parts, one coupon clipped from the paper and 10 cents to cover expense, is far less than you will be able to buy this history from the publishers when they place it on the market. Sooner or later you are sure to buy a history of the war, so take our advice, be economical—take advantage of this unusual opportunity the Gazette has had the foresight to secure for you and start now to collect the parts as they are issued.

There will be a new part every week or ten days, and by getting each part as it is issued you will only be paying out about forty or fifty cents a month in small amounts of ten cents each, and will be really saving money on account of the high price this history will bring when completed.

The Coupon today is printed on another Page. Clip it now, while you think of it, as the supply of parts is very limited and you do not want to miss the opportunity.

GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY DESCRIBES BELGIUM

Information Is Given Out Daily By National Organization To The Press.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—Perhaps no other organization in the United States is keeping in such close touch with the geography of the European War as the National Geographic Society, of Washington. While it is furnishing geographical data daily to the press, it is itself receiving a wealth of geographic material with reference to the countries at war, their peoples, their customs, their industries, and their geographic history.

In a communication on "Belgium: The Innocent Bystander," William Joseph Shouler tells the more than 300,000 members of the society:

"The Belgium of today has an area less than one-fourth as great as Mississippi, yet at the outbreak of the present war its population was four times as large as that of Mississippi. Twenty-two and a half countries like Belgium could be tucked away in a state like Texas, and their aggregate population would be more than that of the United States and Germany together."

According to this writer Julius Caesar himself bears early witness to the bravery of the Belgians, who he says, were braver than the Aquitani or the Celts, due to the fact that they were nearer the Germans, with whom they were constantly at war.

Within Belgium's 11,338 square miles of territory, smaller than Massachusetts and Connecticut, with a population of 7,579,000, there lived, at the outbreak of the war, nearly three million French-speaking, Walloons who cannot talk with a like number of their compatriot Flemish speaking Flemings. In their habits of mind and education, and in the way of life, they differ as widely as the English and French, but the bond of religion has bound them together for generations, with never a fratricidal war in their history.

The Belgian constitution, framed in 1830 by a convention of Belgians, guarantees freedom of conscience, of education, and of press, and the right of peaceful assembly. The language is filled by succession. There is a cabinet, a senate, and a house of representatives. A senator's pay is remarkable as it may seem is a free pass on the railways without a fee of actual salary. A representative gets a free pass and $800 a year.

The suffrage laws are interesting. A Belgian gets one vote when he reaches the age of 25. If at the age of 35 he pays one dollar in taxes, and is married or a widower with legitimate children, he gets a second vote.

Railway fares were very low. A double-day journey of 20 miles cost 37½ cents a week, of 44 miles, 50 cents a week. Every person entering a railroad station had to pay one cent for that privilege, and the revenue therefor amounted to $500,000 a year.

Belgium's foreign business was large. Those wonderful little engines that did such good work at Panama were Liege-made, and an example of Belgium exports. The country's foreign trade was greater than that of all South America together. If the United States imported as much per capita as Belgium, its imports would total two billion dollars a year; if we exported as much per capita our export business would amount to ten billion dollars a year.

A SERMON CONTRAST BY REV. WM. MAHONEY

Assistant Pastor Gives Excellent Sermon at Third Mass Yesterday Morning.

The Rev. Father William Mahoney, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church, at the 10:30 o'clock high mass yesterday morning, delivered a powerful sermon, a contrast of the good American citizen and a Christian gentleman, to the degenerate American and the degenerate Christian. To be a good citizen of the United States, the speaker said, one must not only be faithful to his country, but must be ready at any moment whatever for the cause of the flag. Men wanted by the government, he proved, must be fit, physically, and clean of mind and body. The speaker laid much stress on this fact. The Christian gentleman too, a warrior for right on this earth and salvation in the next, must live clean and uphold and be ready to back the standard of truth at all times. He too, the speaker stated, for the honorable dictates of his conscience and be ever ready to answer the call of his Maker for everlasting death.

Yesterday was the first Sunday of Advent, the New Year's Day of the ecclesiastical year. Father Mahoney explained to the congregation that this day represented the period set aside for the preparation, by the world, for the great feast (Christmas Day) soon to be celebrated.
